EcoVadis Awards INNIO Group platinum medal status in response to solid progress and execution of ESG strategy

- INNIO completes journey from silver to platinum status in less than 2 years from first rating with EcoVadis
- EcoVadis platinum rating extends the previous gold medal rating of INNIO's Jenbacher brand to the entire INNIO Group, including Jenbacher and Waukesha product lines worldwide
- EcoVadis platinum medal is further validation of INNIO's commitment to its ESG reporting transparency and sustainability practices

Jenbach, Austria – September 19, 2022 – INNIO today announced that EcoVadis has awarded the INNIO Group, including its Jenbacher and Waukesha product lines, with a platinum medal as part of its sustainability performance rating, placing INNIO in the top 1% of all businesses evaluated by EcoVadis. This platinum award reflects demonstrated improvements and contributions towards sustainable growth in the past year, with notable score improvement in Environment, and Sustainable Procurement and continued strong performance in Labor & Human Rights and Ethics categories.

"I am extremely proud that INNIO has been awarded the EcoVadis platinum medal. After having already been ranked number one globally amongst companies with the lowest risk within the machinery industry by Sustainalytics, EcoVadis now places us among the top 1% of all evaluated businesses worldwide. This demonstrates INNIO's commitment to empowering the net zero transition while ensuring that our employees are fully engaged at the workplace and providing continuous support through our diversity and inclusion efforts," said Olaf Berlien, president and CEO of INNIO.

EcoVadis' annual assessment focuses on 21 issues grouped into themes that include: environment, labor & human rights, ethics, sustainable procurement, and a dedicated scorecard on carbon. These criteria are based upon international sustainability standards, including the Global Compact Principles, the International Labour Organization Conventions, and the Global Reporting Initiative standard. The platinum medal rating reflects INNIO's continued commitment to its sustainability efforts in 2022. INNIO's accomplishments included the following:

- Innovating in technology and connected environmental goals and ambitions;
- Standardizing and enhancing non-financial disclosures and receiving 3rd party ESG assurance;
- Improving carbon intensity from internal operations in line with set goals and ESG strategy;
- Maintaining detailed and transparent records in health and safety, human capital, procurement processes, materials and waste management, and circularity;
- Innovating products and digital solutions leading to decarbonization.
